Private Healthcare Sector Revenues (R$)

The Exhibit shows the evolution of the Healthcare sector revenues and MLR, indicating a strong expansion since 2006 but still high level of costs. We highlight that Qualicorp is not exposed to underwriting risks, which places the company in an unique position among the healthcare sector. At the same time, to guarantee the sustainability of our business we engage strong efforts to keep the MLR of our portfolio under control, enabling competitive prices and strong growth.

Industry Overview

Historical lack of physicians and beds

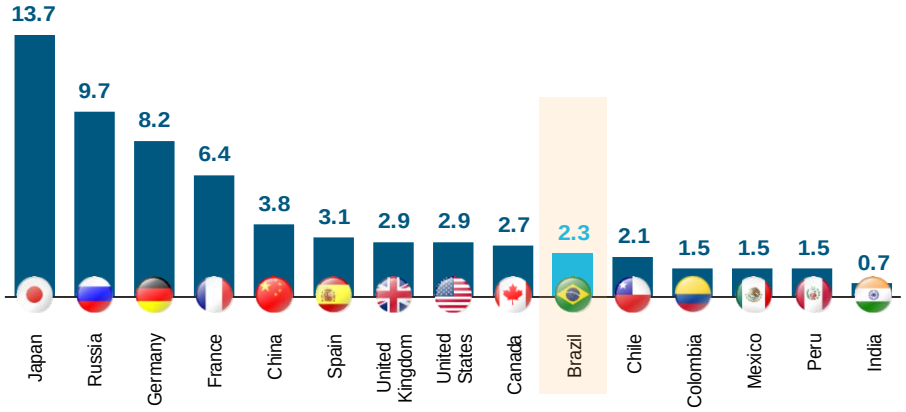

Physicians per capita rate is much lower than in developed countries ...

(Physicians per 1,000 people)

... so as the number of beds per capita

(beds per 1,000 people)

Hospital beds distribution

(beds per 1,000 people)

The number of physicians per 1,000 inhabitants is far behind that of developed countries standards

It is important to notice that in Brazil there is:

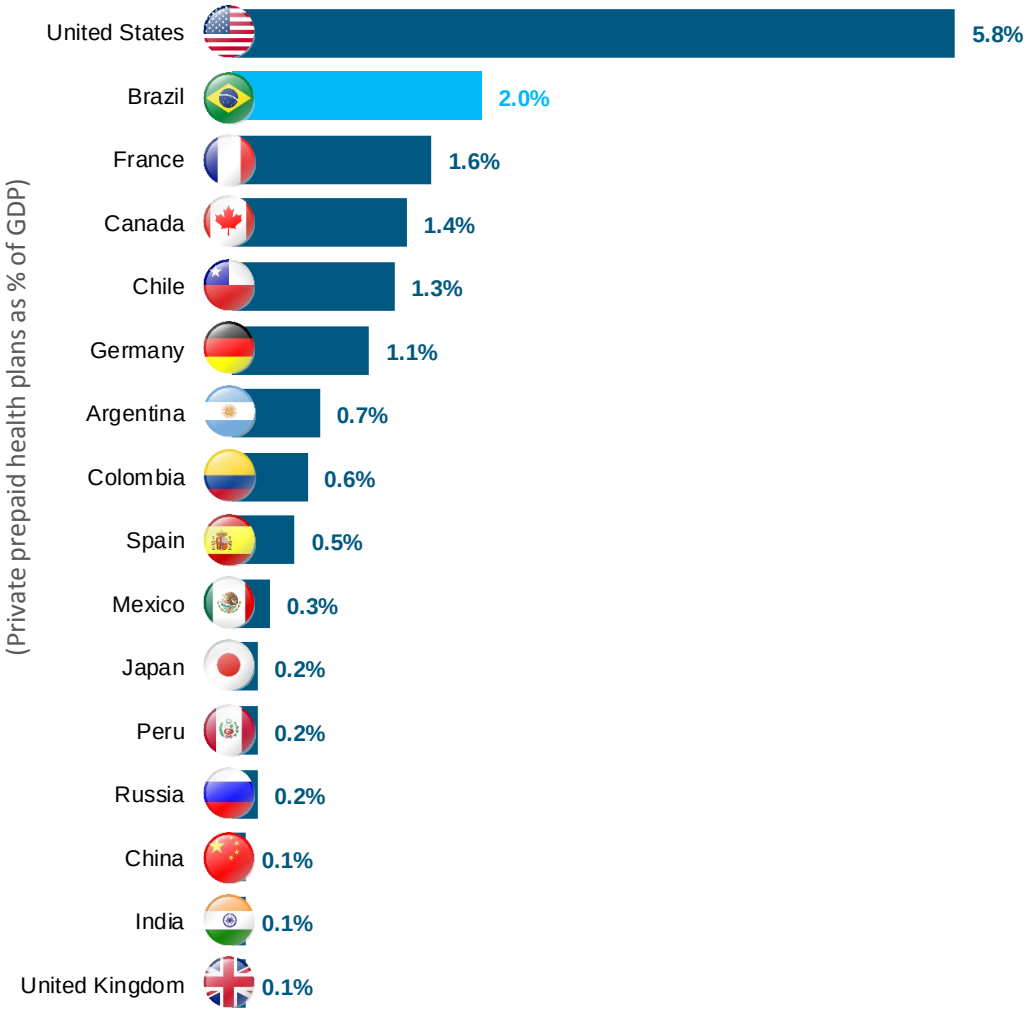

- Huge penetration disparity across regions and also between capital, cities and countryside regions
- Poor infrastructure quality
- Major inefficiencies, such as lack of basic support and monitoring

Healthcare assistance in Brazil is far behind of developed countries

Industry Overview

Brazilians have high expenditures on private health plans

Source: World Health Organization and Wall Street Research.
(1) Among the selected group of countries.

Brazilians spend more than almost any other country on private health plans(1)

Deep underinvestment in the public healthcare system forces the population to look for private alternatives

The overlapping of private and public health services also generates over spending

Regulation obligating a minimum coverage and procedures to be provided by some health plans increases spending

Industry Overview

Health Plans in Brazil

- Upward social mobility, consumption dream, most valued benefit by users.
- Change of the social and demographic profile -> change of the epidemiological profile.
- The private health sector by definition is complementary to the public system, but it is used as a replacement.

Key challenges to be addressed

- Historically the system is based on revenue increase (in times of high inflation) and pass through of costs, and not on health management and cost savings with the irrational use of resources => high annual increases.
- Lack of alignment between the purpose of the system (producing healthy individuals) and the payment criteria (based on diseases)
- Payment model based on "fee for service" and lack of alignment of financial incentives with a high level of waste.

Promote comparative evaluation - indicators	Encourage and reward best practices aligned with clinical outcome and cost	Face the problem of OPME (Orthotics, Prosthetics and Special Materials)	Use of clinical protocols

- Organize health information - EHR (reducing repetitions, cost and increasing safety).
- Use of continued information technology with users - habits, disease prevention, health promotion and quality of life => integrality of the individualized health care line throughout life.
- Consumers' co- responsibility when using the plan.
- Invest in engagement, education and change of habits and behavior

Regulatory Framework

The evolution of the Private Healthcare Regulatory System

- 1998 - First regulation for the healthcare sector - law 9.656/98 was created to regulate the private sector. Levels of Services, reimbursements, price adjustments, networks and other matters.

- 2000 – ANS was created as a regulatory agency for the Private Healthcare sector in order to set performance standards, complying with law 9.656/98.

- 2009 - RN 195: Regulate : grace periods, price adjustments criteria, healthcare segmentation and geographic coverage.
- RN 196: Regulates the activities of the Benefits Administrators. Was created to mitigate conflict of interest between clients and providers, risk selection, and the false collectivization.
- Benefit Administrators: (i) price adjustments negotiation; (ii) guarantee operators are respecting regulation and contracts; (iii) Absorb delinquency risk; (iv) registration handling.
- Prohibition of benefit administrators to develop any typical activity of health plan operator.

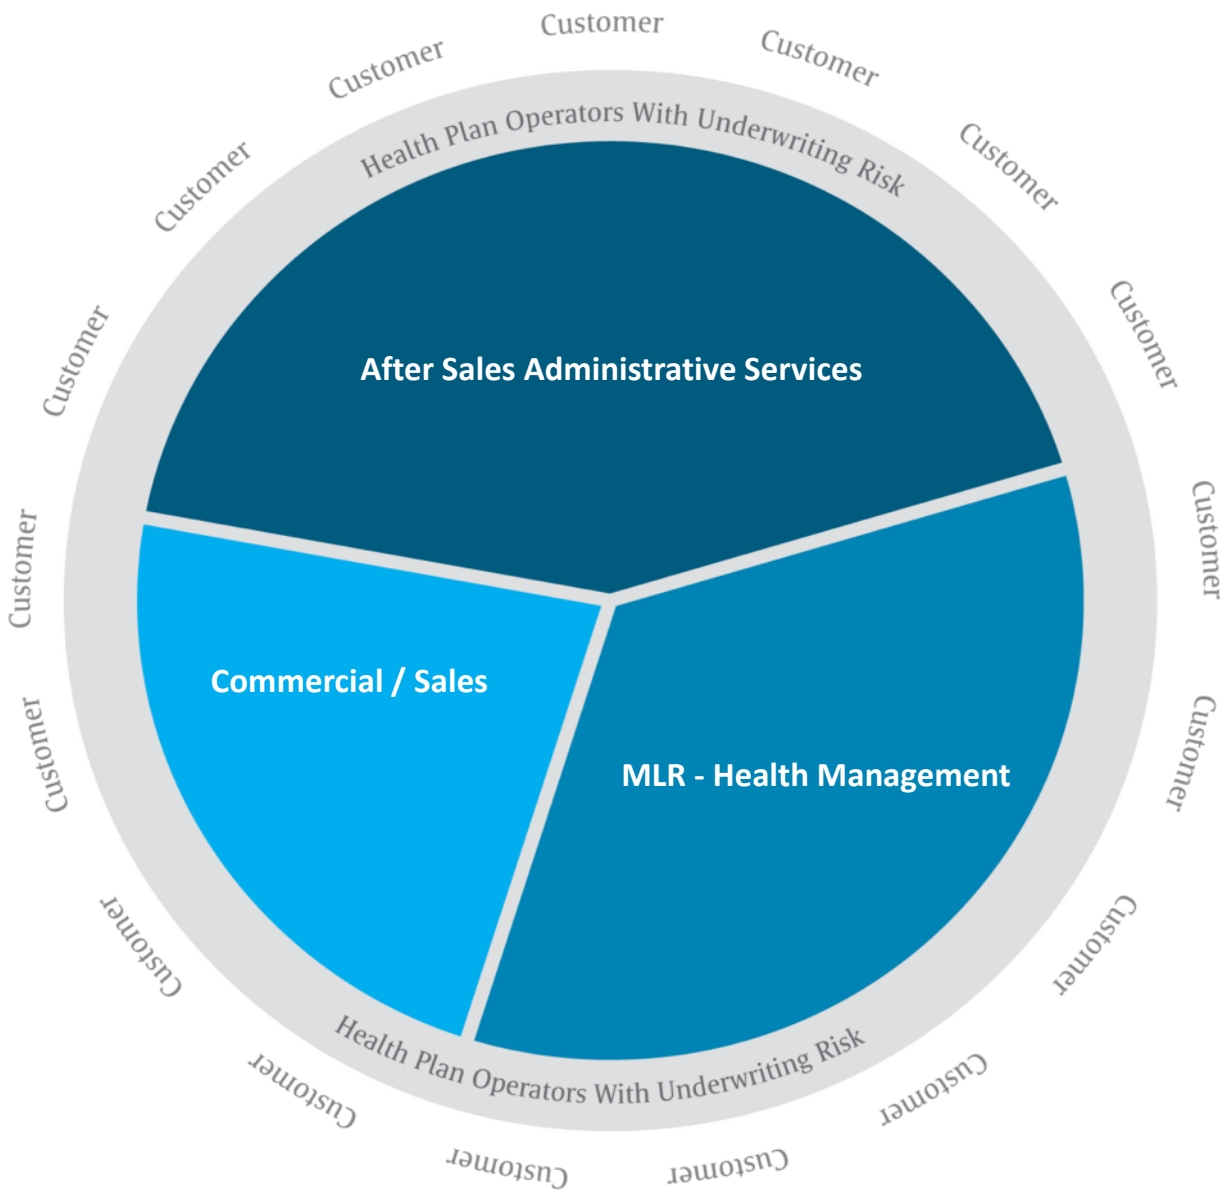

- 2012 - New price adjustment rules for contracts of corporative plans under 30 beneficiaries. The measure states that the health plan operators must group these contracts and calculate a single readjustment for the entire pool, to dilute risk.

- 2014 - Normative came up to reinforce that the practice of risk selection by health plan operators is prohibited.

- 2015 - In January the Brazilian government passed a law that allowed foreign entities to invest in healthcare providers (hospital and clinics).

- 2016 – Normative regulates cancellation, allowing immediate effect for cancellation request since knowledge of the operator.
